Anticipation is already mounting for the launch of Shangri-La at the Fort's Horizon Homes at Bonifacio Global City slated next week. Horizon Homes is designed for those who want to enjoy luxurious city living, but with spacious accommodations that are not normally found in other properties – as can be seen in an artist's rendition of the living room of a 418-sqm four-bedroom unit whose price point starts at around P130 million. The smallest available units, which are the 250-sqm two-bedroom, are priced anywhere from P77 million to P83 million (inclusive of parking slots but exclusive of VAT and other charges) – making Horizon Homes one of the most expensive today.

But then again, the prices are par for the course considering they come with the famed Shangri-La quality of service and hospitality the brand is known for all over the world. An added feature of Horizon Homes – which are residential units numbering close to 100 at the top floors of Shangri-La at the Fort – has a lot of modern amenities that include exclusive recreational facilities, a personal concierge service and 24/7 security with convenient access to the hotel.

Judging from the artist renditions sent to us, the residences look really spacious, sleek and stylish – and they come with great views of the Makati and Taguig skylines since they are located at the top floors. At 250 meters high, the landmark, mixed-use development will be one of the tallest buildings in the Philippines, a LEED

(Leadership in Energy and Environmental design) gold certified green development which means underscores Shangri-La's commitment to uphold sustainability.
